

JN MUN 2015

JHS with great pleasure announces its first Model United Nations Conference, Jain Model United Nations (JNMUN)'15 which will be held at Jain Heritage School from 19 to 21 October 2015.

JHS goal is to integrate as many different people as possible into the debate of and on the UN and also about other international issues of paramount importance to the world as a whole. Through this conference JHS hope to provide a unique opportunity to engage high school students to be more productive, while developing strong friendships.

The conference will draw attention to fundamental issues of global importance through five committees which can be viewed online. The focus will be on concrete solutions and ways to make our world a better and more secure place to live.

JNMUN has been established to recreate the spirited diplomacy practiced in the United Nations and to provide Bangalore's future generation of leaders a chance to explore their skills and talents through public speaking, writing and negotiating in an environment conducive to the diplomatic practices found at the highest level of statesmanship. The Secretariat team will come from across the city of Bangalore and we will be working diligently to ensure the progression of JNMUN delegate engagement, and to maintain high organizational quality of Jain Model United Nations Conference.

Over 30 schools across Bangalore is expected to attend this maiden Venture.
